

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In order to reduce manufacturing costs of a relatively thick center core with an outside diameter of 15 mm or less and to achieve high precision flatness of a disk affixing surface and a spindle chucking surface of the center core, the center
5 core is manufactured by only pressing or a combination of forging and pressing a stainless steel material with good surface precision and parallelism between the surfaces.